PRESIDENT'S CORNER

As we step into Spring 2026, I'm excited about what's ahead for the Alabama Society for Healthcare Engineering and the opportunity we have to come together once again as a community in sunny Pensacola Beach.

Our Annual Spring Conference is right around the corner, kicking off with our ALASHE Golf Tournament at beautiful Marcus Pointe Golf Club on May 13th, followed by the conference through May 15th at Hilton Pensacola Beach. If you've attended before, you already know the value and fun this event brings, and if you haven't, this is the year to be there.

Healthcare facility management is changing quickly. From advancing technologies to increasing regulatory expectations, the pace isn't slowing down. That's why this conference matters. It's more than just educational sessions, it is where we sharpen our knowledge, challenge our thinking, and learn practical solutions that we can take back and apply immediately in our facilities.

Our trade show floor is a big part of that experience. Each year, it's packed with vendors and sponsors showcasing the latest tools, technologies, and solutions supporting healthcare facilities—and it consistently spills beyond the ballroom. It's a great opportunity to have real conversations, see solutions firsthand, and connect directly with the partners helping move our industry forward.

Just as important is the opportunity to connect. The relationships built at these events are what make this organization strong. There's no better setting to have meaningful conversations, share experiences, and build lasting professional connections than a few days at the beach with peers who understand the challenges and responsibilities we carry every day.

We're also committed to investing in the next generation of leaders in our field. If you or someone on your team has never attended an ALASHE Conference, I encourage you to take advantage of our first-time attendee scholarship. Scholarships are limited, so act quickly. You can find more information and apply at alashe.org.

Registration and hotel information are now available. Please reach out to Debbie or me if we can answer any questions.

I look forward to seeing everyone there.
